

Broome
Community
College Presents:

Dr. Brian Huot: Using Writing for Teaching and Learning Across the Curriculum

BCC's Writing Initiatives Network Committee invites you to a free, half day workshop designed to inspire new strategies for using writing effectively in the classroom. Dr. Huot's keynote address will be followed by practical working sessions where participants can collect and share ideas. A free luncheon will be provided after the workshop.

Attendance will satisfy professional credit for secondary educators.

Date: October 13, 2007

Time: 9:00 am—1:30 pm

Place: Hoyt Conference Room
Decker Center for Health Sciences

Contact: Diane O'Heron
607-778-5480.

RSVP required.

For more information and to register
online, please visit:
<http://web.sunybroome.edu/~winc/>.

Dr. Huot is professor of English and Writing Program Coordinator at Kent
State University;
his many publications include
Re-Articulating Writing Assessment for Teaching and Learning.

Broome
Community
College | BCC
State University of New York